What did Connect & Serve need?

Grant helped Connect & Serve get organized for their website development project by identifying what types of information and images they need, and creating a plan to pull it all together.

Why is this project important?

As a new nonprofit, I am not able to effectively apply for funding or share the vision of our mission and work without a functioning website that will draw potential stakeholders and give donors a place to donate/support the work we want to do.

This project is estimated to save us $1,636, allowing us to use it for marketing and other communication to build our brand

What did they have to say?

Grant has been an absolute pleasure to work with. When I started this process, I had no idea about website building, content or design. Grant became my teacher and supported my desire to learn the backend so I could manage the website when the project was over. He is a kind young man with a very kind spirit. He gave me a lot of good feedback and ideas for the site. I am happy!
